The Word of God[1] for the thirteenth Sunday after Pentecost

I am shepherding you, My country of today, My Romania. Oh, take from My Spirit, take from God, take and nourish yourself from heaven, for the heaven of saints are standing above you, watching over you and sharing blessed food with you, for there is no more pure food on earth, there is nothing good for the soul or for the body, and I, the Lord your God, am standing above you and giving you from Me, so that you may be sanctified with My word and have the word of God upon you, My country.

Oh, the word upon the earth is coming from heaven, it is coming from Christ, it is calling to the spirit of peace to the peoples at war with each other through their cold-hearted leaders for those who perish unexpectedly in the midst of the daily fear, and behold, I am trying to say over the leaders: Peace to you! Peace among you! Peace from heaven among you, over you and over the people who sigh day and night not knowing if they will have more days, if peace comes! I, the Lord, am taking them in the arms of My Spirit and giving them a place in the dwellings of My Father, for mercy tears My Spirit and I am calling to peace the peoples at war and I am saying again and again: Enough!

Everywhere on earth, there are pains and pains and fears of death, and the leaders of the nations, lay their heads on the pillow and sleep with cold hearts, and I, the Lord, see from above the pains on earth and I am trying to calm the tensions and to cry out with great power: Peace to you, the peoples and the leaders! Replace greed with love! Love one another, so that cruelty may flee from your hearts and the love from heaven may come, the peace from heaven, and peace to you! From the land of My coming again on earth, I am feeding you also with the word and I say peace to you and hurry to obey God! Amen.

I am returning to you, My country, I am preparing you beautifully and I am awaiting you at the seventy-year celebration of My word, since I have left My Shepherd's voice on your hearth, and now, I am establishing this celebration in the citadel of My word calling you to share My glory with My people, nourished and raised from heaven, so that I may have them standing to meet Me when I come to the earth and to write My word in the book, and then to set it on its way across the country.

I am calling you to My seventy-year celebration on your land, My Romania, but to this celebration one comes Christianly, not with worldly clothes, not worldly. Oh, dress yourself Christianly, dress yourself with the attire of your ancestors, My country, and rejoice God and all the saints, for the hosts of Romanian saints are standing above you and preparing for the celebration of the garden of paradise of My Shepherd's word, and My seventy-year story over the Romanian land, and may the spirit of the world stay far away on My day of celebration at Maluri village, at the place from which I, the Lord, began in 1955 the sounding of the trumpet of My word and the first sprouts of My people, raised from heaven with the counsel of My mouth, so that I may have him Mine then, if he wills until the end of Mine. (See the selection topic: „The apocalyptic trumpets[2]", r.n.)

Therefore, I am going to announce you for the feast, My land, and I want you to be on the side of the love of My word, for it is the water of life upon you and upon the earth. Amen.

Now, I am still placing power of word for those things that still need to be worked on as the day of celebration is approaching distributing power from above and grace upon grace upon you, those who work with the Lord, the sons of the citadel of My word, and upon those who are joining from the sides for the preparation of My glory and the garden of paradise at Maluri village.

I am embracing you all in one embrace. Be all of you equally given to Me with your lives, dedicated to Me, My sons. Listen at all times to My teaching for the people of My word, for all the saints look at you at all times, as you work together for the glory of the garden and the feast, My sons.

There is little time left. We must work and watch, day and night, through the powers above upon you, and I, the Lord, always strengthen your body, soul, spirit and strength, sons. Watch for all that is yet to be prepared and done, for I am with you all the time, with you, sons, and do not leave you, and I have the heavenly and angelic powers working with you and I have My word as a Shepherd with you, but do not forget My advice: all on the right, all on the left, all of you, sons, for this is how God works in you and with you with His power, and we will open the gates of the garden where the feast will be seated and the guests will then be seated, We, those from heaven, and from the earth those who sit on the way to the spring according to the order of the feast, according to My word, sons.

Now, a blessing for what is remaining to be settled, and then we are giving the news in its entirety, all under My fatherly eye, to the sons.

I do not leave you alone for a moment. Also, you are not to forsake the counsel of My word either. Stand hand in hand with Me in the spirit of love and brotherly harmony, oh, and may I, the Lord, always have this from you, always between Me and you, and always between you and Me, oh, children. Amen, amen, amen.
